The instructions and definitions below are general explanations of the law. In certain circumstances, such as bankruptcy case not filed voluntarily by a debtor, there may be exceptions to these general rules.

Items to be completed in Proof of Claim form

Court, Name of Debtor, and Case Number:

Fill in the federal judicial district where the bankruptcy case was filed (for example, Central District of California), the bankruptcy debtor's name, and the bankruptcy case number. If the creditor received a notice of the case from the bankruptcy court, all of this information is located at the top of the notice.

Creditor's Name and Address:

Fill in the name of the person or entity asserting a claim and the name and address of the person who should receive notices issued during the bankruptcy case. A separate space is provided for the payment address if it differs from the notice address. The creditor has a continuing obligation to keep the court informed of its current address. See Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure (FRBP) 2002(g).

1. Amount of Claim as of Date Case Filed:

State the total amount owed to the creditor on the date of the bankruptcy filing. Follow the instructions concerning whether to complete items 4 and 5. Check the box if interest or other charges are included in the claim.

2. Basis for Claim:

State the type of debt or how it was incurred. Examples include goods sold, money loaned, services performed, personal injury/wrongful death, car loan, mortgage note, and credit card.

3. Last Four Digits of Any Number by Which Creditor Identifies Debtor:

State only the last four digits of the debtor's account or other number used by the creditor to identify the debtor.

4. Secured Claim:

Check the appropriate box and provide the requested information if the claim is fully or partially secured. Skip this section if the claim is entirely unsecured. (See DEFINITIONS, below.) State the type and the value of property that secures the claim, attach copies of lien documentation, and state annual interest rate and the amount past due on the claim as of the date of the bankruptcy filing. You must state the type and value of property that is collateral for the claim, attach copies of the documentation of your lien, and state the amount past due on the claim as of the date the bankruptcy case was filed.

5. Amount of Claim Entitled to Priority Under 11 U.S.C. § 507(a):
If any portion of your claim falls in one or more of the listed categories, check the appropriate box(es) and state the amount entitled to priority. (See DEFINITIONS, below.) A claim may be partly priority and partly non-priority. For example, in some of the categories, the law limits the amount entitled to priority.

6. Credits:

An authorized signature on this proof of claim serves as an acknowledgement that when calculating the amount of the claim, the creditor gave the debtor credit for any payments received toward the debt.

7. Documents:

Attach to this proof of claim form redacted copies documenting the existence of the debt and of any lien securing the debt. You may also attach a summary. You must also attach copies of documents that evidence perfection of any security interest. You may also attach a summary. FRBP 3001(c) and (d). Do not send original documents, as attachments may be destroyed after scanning.

Date and Signature:

The person filing this proof of claim must sign and date it. FRBP 9011. If the claim is filed electronically, FRBP 5005(a)(2), authorizes courts to establish local rules specifying what constitutes a signature. Print the name and title, if any, of the creditor or other person authorized to file this claim. State the filer's address and telephone number if it differs from the address given on the top of the form for purposes of receiving notices. Attach a complete copy of any power of attorney. Criminal penalties apply for making a false statement on a proof of claim.

Debtor

The person, corporation, or other entity that has filed a bankruptcy case is called the debtor.

Secured Claim

A claim is a secured claim to the extent that the creditor has a lien on property of the debtor (collateral) that gives the creditor the right to be paid from that property before creditors who do not have liens on the property.

Unsecured Claim

If a claim is not a secured claim it is an unsecured claim. A claim may be partly secured and partly unsecured if the property on which a creditor has a lien is not worth enough to pay the creditor in full.

Creditor

A creditor is any person, corporation, or other entity to whom the debtor owed a debt on the date that the bankruptcy case was filed.

Examples of liens are a mortgage on real estate and a security interest in a car, truck, boat, television set, or other item of property. A lien may have been obtained through a court proceeding before the bankruptcy case began; in some states a court judgment is a lien. In addition, to the extent a creditor also owes money to the debtor (has a right of setoff), the creditor's claim may be a secured claim. (See also Unsecured Claim.)

Unsecured Priority Claim

Certain types of unsecured claims are given priority, so they are to be paid in bankruptcy cases before most other unsecured claims (if there is sufficient money or property available to pay these claims). The most common types of priority claims are listed on the proof of claim form. Unsecured claims that are not specifically given priority status by the bankruptcy laws are classified as Unsecured Nonpriority claims.

If you settled a Claim with the Debtor before February 17, 2009, but you have not been paid or been fully paid, you must still file a Claim for the unpaid amount. If you have been fully paid, you do not need to file a Claim.

Society of Jesus, Oregon Province
Mailing and Media Notice Program

This Mailing and Media Notice Program is designed to inform people living in Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana (the “Oregon Province Territory”), and elsewhere about the deadline for filing claims in the Society of Jesus, Oregon Province’s Chapter 11 case.

The goal is to reach as many people as possible who may have claims for sexual abuse or misconduct through print advertising, enhanced public radio public service announcements, flyers in magazines/newsletters, posting on Web sites and posting flyers in key community locations, including without limitation, rural Alaska.

In addition, nationwide notice will be effectuated through advertisement in USA Today to reach people who may have moved from the five state region, or were subject to acts of abuse committed by Oregon Province Jesuits in locations outside of the five state region. In addition, print advertising will be targeted in locations outside of the Oregon Province Territory where Jesuits that have been accused of child sexual abuse were located.

We estimate the cost to place quarter page advertisements in the various publications and purchase a flight of enhanced public service announcements will be $534,294.87. An additional budget will need to be determined to print, ship and, in some cases, travel to various locations to post and maintain flyers.

Following is a break down of proposed media outlets, flyer locations, and budget.

Posting Locations

The Society of Jesus, Oregon Province will make its best effort to post flyers in the following locations and will make its best effort to maintain the flyers. Both English and Spanish version of the flyers will be posted:

I.

AC Value Center in the follow Alaska communities: Aniak, Barrow, Bethel, Emmonak, Hopper Bay, Kotlik, Kotzebue, McGrath, Mt. Village, St. Mary, St. Michael, and Nome

II.

United State Post Offices in the following Alaska communities: Chefornak, Chevak, Galena, Huslia, Holy Cross, Kalskag, Kaltag, Little Diomede, Marshall, Newtok, Nightmute, Nome, Nulato, Nunam Iqua, Pilot Station, Ruby, Russian Mission, Scammons Bay, Stebbins, Tananna, Teller, Toksook, Tununak, Unalakleet, Koyukuk, and McGrath.

III.

The Provincial will send a letter to each of the bishops for the Roman Catholic dioceses within the Oregon Province Territory asking that they encourage each of the parishes within their respective dioceses to participate in the posting and publication program by posting the publication notice (in both English and Spanish) at the parish and also including the notices in the parish bulletin. These will include, without limitation, those churches and schools listed below historically served by Oregon Province Jesuits.

NOTICE OF DEADLINE TO FILE CLAIMS

IF YOU WERE ABUSED OR SUFFERED INJURY BY A JESUIT PRIEST OR OTHER PERSON FOR WHICH YOU CLAIM THE SOCIETY OF JESUS, OREGON PROVINCE HAS SOME RESPONSIBILITY, OR IF YOU HAVE ANY OTHER REASON TO ASSERT A CLAIM YOU MUST ACT NOW TO FILE YOUR CLAIM

THE LAST DAY TO FILE CLAIMS IS OCTOBER 15, 2009

SOCIETY OF JESUS, OREGON PROVINCE (the ‘Debtor’) filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection on February 17, 2009 (United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Oregon, Case No. 09-30938-elp11). The Bankruptcy Court has ordered that all persons with a claim for damages against the Debtor for injuries resulting from sexual, mental, or physical abuse or misconduct, or for any other reason, must file a claim on or before October 15, 2009.

You must complete and file a proof of claim if you contend that the Debtor is responsible for any injury or other damages to you because you claim that you were sexually, mentally, or physically abused, whether by (1) a priest, other clergy, a worker, a volunteer, an employee or other person or entity within the states of Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington (the “Oregon Province Territory”) for which you claim the Debtor has some responsibility; or (2) through acts that occurred outside the Oregon Province Territory for which you claim the Debtor has some responsibility; or (3) if you have a claim against the Debtor for any other reason.

For more information, or to receive a long form Notice of Claims Bar Date and Proof of Claim Form write to: Society of Jesus Oregon Province Case, c/o BMC Group, Inc., PO Box 2011, Chanhassen, MN 55317-2011, call the toll free number listed below, or visit the website set forth below. Sexual Abuse Claims for Victims of Jesuit Priest Abuse

Support for Victims of
JESUIT PRIEST ABUSE

TO ALL SURVIVORS OF SEXUAL OR PHYSICAL ABUSE
BY JESUIT PRIESTS, BROTHERS, OR VOLUNTEERS

A bankruptcy court has set deadlines for abuse survivors to submit claims, and you must act soon to protect your rights.

In the 1950s, 1960s, and 1970s, Jesuit priests and brothers around the Northwest physically and sexually abused children and teens at Jesuit-run schools and missions. The abuse perpetrated on victims ranged from inappropriate touching to rape.

The perpetrators of the abuse worked for the Society of Jesus, Oregon Province, a religious order based in Portland, Oregon. The Province operated schools, missions, and churches throughout Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and Alaska for decades, going back to the 1940's. Many of these schools, missions, and churches were on Indian reservations, and many of the victims were Native Americans. However, the race, age, and gender of the victims varied greatly.

The number of children and teens abused is estimated to be in the hundreds, perhaps thousands, over several decades. The abuse perpetrated by these Jesuits was pervasive and damaged many lives. The evidence revealed to date indicates that the Province failed to monitor sexual perpetrators and in some cases knowingly transferred the perpetrators to other locations, allowing them to abuse again.

Coming forward with your story of abuse is difficult and takes courage, but you are not alone. Many people who were victimized at Jesuit institutions have told their stories and made the perpetrators, and the institution that allowed the abuse to occur, accountable for their wrongful actions. While some of the survivors of abuse have reached a settlement with the Province, it is estimated that many more survivors have yet to come forward.

Keep in mind that survivors of abuse at the hands of Jesuits must come forward quickly to preserve their claim. If you or someone you know was a victim of abuse by a priest, brother, volunteer, or employee of a Jesuit institution, please call us and make your voice heard. Holding the Province accountable for the abuse that occurred at its schools and missions helps stop the cycle of abuse against children. By standing together, you can help other victims and yourself.

Abuse survivors often feel isolated and alone with the secret of abuse. We are here to listen and help you find a voice to speak out against what happened and begin the healing process. By standing together, the survivors of abuse can make a difference. You can speak to us in confidence and with the assurance that we will listen and assess your claim. Because time is running out for legal action, please contact us immediately. We are here to help.

Yakamas part of lawsuit over alleged Jesuit abuse
by MARK MOREY
Yakima Herald-Republic

YAKIMA, Wash. -- Yakama tribal members are among those suing a Northwest order of Catholic Jesuits over allegations that they were abused at an Indian boarding school in Okanogan County.

The claims were originally raised in a lawsuit filed last year in U.S. District Court by 18 anonymous plaintiffs, represented by the Tamaki Law Firm of Yakima.

That case was dismissed because the Oregon Province of the Society of Jesus in February filed for bankruptcy because it is facing hundreds of similar claims.

Attorney Blaine Tamaki said he now represents close to 30 claimants who will be submitting requests as creditors in the bankruptcy case. Some of those are members of the Yakama tribe, he said.

The original plaintiffs are not named in the federal lawsuit, a move which defense attorneys objected, and Tamaki would not name any of the Yakama claimants.

The Oregon Province covers Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Alaska. Society of Jesus priests, known as Jesuits, staff and manage a variety of schools around the Northwest.

The lawsuit filed by Tamaki alleges that priests in the order who were assigned to St. Mary's Mission near Omak, Wash., were responsible for abuse against the claimants. Most of the alleged activity took place in the 1960s.

Tamaki said in a news release that the order had a history of sending pedophile priests to isolated Indian reservations, where they were able to continue their abuses. The St. Mary's school is on the Colville reservation.

In public statements, the province has emphasized that the abuse allegations involve only a small percentage of the order's priests. Most of the suspects are dead or elderly.

Because the province has paid millions to cover legal claims by alleged victims, bankruptcy reorganization is the only way to keep the organization viable, according to statements on the provincial Web site.

Tamaki urged any other victims to come forward if they want to join the bankruptcy process.

The Oregon court handling the matter is expected to soon establish a deadline for any claims against the province.

Survivors who come forward may take measures to protect their identity or they may choose to speak out. Survivors of priest sex abuse, and physical abuse, are both Native American and Non-Native American. Many known pedophile priests were assigned to Indian Reservations, parishes and schools outside reservations in Montana, Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Alaska, where they committed abusive sexual acts, including rape. Often, the same offender would abuse children in several different locations over many years.

Pedophile Jesuit priests targeted victims in city parishes and on college, university, and high school campuses in Spokane, Seattle, and Portland. Oversight of the abusers by Church leaders was poor, or worse, sexual offenders were knowingly transferred to new locations where they abused more young victims.

Victims – children and teenagers – naturally felt isolated... not only by the vast geography of the reservations and schools, but also isolated by deep and dark secrets they shouldn't have been forced to keep. Now, as adults, many survivors are realizing they were not alone, that it wasn't their fault, and that now is the time for accountability and for the protection of today's children.

About the Jesuit Priests and the Oregon Province

Jesuits form the largest order of priests and brothers in the Catholic Church. Today, nearly twenty-thousand Jesuits are active in 112 nations on 6 continents.

Characterized by their missionary work, the Jesuit's legacy remains controversial.

Their stated mission of "service to the poor" made the Oregon Province a place for too many

Rev. John J. Morse, Jesuit missionary priest, was assigned to St. Mary's Mission and St. Joseph Church in Omak, Washington (Colville Reservation) in the 1960's and 1970's.

Jesuit priests who were sent to reservations and remote areas with little oversight. Some of these priests were pedophiles who brought great harm to the people they were supposed to serve. Priests served in large cities and small towns throughout Washington, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Alaska.

Jesuit Priest Abuse

Many victims of Jesuit sex abuse in the Northwest have already come forward to take action for themselves, and also for today's children. Through their courage, the truth is finally being told.

The Jesuits have already settled numerous claims involving Father John Morse, a Jesuit Priest who was assigned to St. Mary's Mission boarding school on the Colville Indian Reservation near Omak, Washington. Another Jesuit named in some of these claims is Brother Jim Gates, or "Brother Jim" as he was known by the young boys and girls at St. Mary's Mission. This abuse occurred primarily in the 1960's and 1970's, but new evidence indicates sexual abuse by Jesuit priests has been a problem at St. Mary's Mission for decades, perhaps to the 1940's and even earlier.

Other victims are coming forward in north Idaho, where claims have been filed against Father Ferretti, or "Father Freddy" as he was known on the Nez Perce reservation near Lapwai, and the Coeur d'Alene Reservation in DeSmet. Father Freddy violated little girls, and several survivors have recently spoken out for justice.

Jesuit Father Toulouse was assigned to universities in the Pacific Northwest. Toulouse accosted young men who were alter boys, students, or the children of parents in the parish whom he befriended in order to have access to their children.

Father John Leary was the President of Gonzaga University in Spokane who, amid accusations of molesting several boys, was part of a secret deal between Jesuit leaders and police to leave town and avoid criminal charges.

Once a priest was suspected of physical or sexual abuse, the Church often transferred the offender to another location, where the pedophile abused again.

The sex molesters "groomed" their child and teenage victims to establish control over them; powerless children were instructed to keep the abuse secret. As authority figures, priests made it clear that children would not be believed. Victims are able to come forward now, as adults, because the conspiracy of power and secrecy has been exposed and the law changed to recognize their rights.

Jesuit Father Ferretti (also known as Father Freddie) was assigned to the Nez Perce Reservation near Lapwai, and to the Coeur d'Alene Reservation near Desmet.

On February 18, 2009, the Northwest Jesuits (Society of Jesus, Oregon Province) filed for Chapter 11, bankruptcy protection in Federal Court. That action could directly affect your legal rights.

The Jesuits are considered the wealthiest Order of the Catholic Church, but their legal maneuverings to avoid responsibility and protect this wealth directly implicate victims' legal rights.

The Federal Bankruptcy Court is starting the process of consolidating all claims of sexual or physical abuse against the Northwest Jesuits (Society of Jesus, Oregon Province). A filing deadline will be determined by the Judge, meaning that all victims' claims must be filed before that deadline. That deadline has not yet been set, but is expected to be announced very soon. Frequently Asked Questions

QUESTION

Why should I consider taking legal action for something that happened to me many years ago?

ANSWER

The effects of child sexual abuse continue into adulthood. Many abuse victims do not connect the emotional and psychological difficulties that they encounter as adults with the abuse they suffered as a child.

First, it is important that you realize the abuse you experienced was not your fault. Coming forward is the first step in demanding accountability from the entity that inflicted the abuse.

Many abuse victims cannot afford the medical and psychological help that they need as adults. Even if the abuse you encountered was decades ago, the feelings of guilt, grief and despair can be overwhelming.

Filing a legal claim or a lawsuit against those who were responsible, could allow you to receive the help you need as an adult. In this case, even though the Jesuit priest who abused you may be deceased, the church that protected them must be held accountable to their victims.

QUESTION

Is it too late for Justice for me?

ANSWER

Because the Society of Jesus Oregon Province asked to have all legal claims consolidated in Federal Bankruptcy Court, it is important for victims to come forward now — or perhaps lose their right to file a claim later. Different states have different rules. In some states, your right to file a claim may be time-barred. It is important that you allow legal counsel to evaluate your claim, so that you may receive accurate and timely advice.

It costs nothing to fill out the contact us form. Your memories of the abuse, any details you remember, are all important elements in evaluating your claim. Remember, having the courage to step forward is empowering and healing.

QUESTION

Must my name be used publicly?

ANSWER

In order to protect your privacy, most courts allow abuse survivors to use your initials or even the more obscure titles "John Doe" and "Jane Doe." This allows the court to know the details of the abuse without identifying you publicly. Some survivors prefer to come forward with their own names, as a statement that the dark secret will be a secret no longer.

Both men and women have been victims of child sex abuse. Men and women, as adults, may suffer in different ways. Some may turn to alcohol, drugs, and violence. Others may be unable to function in marriages or in jobs. The effects of child sex abuse are deeply felt by victims. Sometimes guilt and distrust may discourage victims from having the courage to come forward. If you feel this way, we want to say this clearly: It was not your fault. We will listen to you.

QUESTION

If I call the toll free number, how do I begin the conversation?

ANSWER

Conversations that you have with the person at the other end of the toll free number will be private. Tell the person answering the phone that you wish to talk with someone about Jesuit sexual abuse when you were a child. The person you speak with will ask you some questions and begin a dialogue with you. You will find us to be respectful, empathetic, and supportive. In other words, you can feel safe to talk with us. We will be your advocate.
